CLIMAX IN ASSAULT CASE.

Third Act of the Dramma Completed in Squire Watkins Court this Morning.

The court room of Jas. A. Watkins was crowded this morning between 9 and 10 o'clock to hear the famous assault and battery case wherein Robt. Lloyd was the plaintiff and Tom Parnella and Mike Puelo were defendents.

Lloyd was sworn and testified as to the manner in which he had been treated at the hands of his assailants. He said he had been ejected from the side walk into the street, knocked down and kicked until he was dazed. The trouble he said first started between Parnella and the man who accompanied him to the store over the purchase of a watermellon

When cross examined by Attorney Reamer, representing the defendants, the witness admitted he had a glass of beer or two but denied being intoxicated.

Frank See a neighbor testified he saw the trouble from his residence and saw Lloyd get the worst of the scuffle.

Several other witnesses were examined who corroborated the statements that Lloyd got worsted. The defense introduced no evidence and at the conclusion Puelo was discharged and Parnella held in the sum of $200.00 bail.

WILL START NEW TOWN

Last week the American Reduction company of Pittsburg closed a deal whereby it secures the fine farm of Geo W. Marsh near West Newton. The track is located along the river front, is traversed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and is an ideal manufacturing site. The property consists of one hundred and six acres, and the amount which Mr. Marsh is to receive in the deal is fifteen thousand dollars.

For a number of years a part of this farm has been used, under lease, by the American Reduction company, in the operation of their large reduction and fertilizer plant. However, it has been stated that it is not the purpose of the company in acquiring this ideal manufacturing site, to use it entirely in the extension of their plant, but that new enterprises will be located and a community built up. A new town will be laid out and a big boom in building operations may be expected during the next year.

The Sparks Show.

The following press notices are taken from papers of recent date:

The Butler Pa Daily Times of July 13, "The Sparks' Show delighted two big audiences yesterday. There was not a slow act in the performance, everything was first class and the costumes and trappings were elegant and costly. The Spark's show will always remain a favorite in Butler as long as the present high standard is maintained."

Meadville Daily Messenger:

"The Sparks' shows paid their annual visit to Meadville yesterday, and of course they drew crowded tents. The popularity of this show is such that we really believe that they could return next week and pack their tents."

The John H. Sparks' Show will exhibit at Monessen Tuesday July 31 afternoon and night. The tents will be pitched in Electric Park.

Annual Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Bible school, Bethany Baptist church will be held tomorrow. The school will be escorted to "the farm" near the ball grounds, meeting at the opera house at 9:30 a. m. It will be a basket picnic. The friends of the church and school are expected in large numbers, and every arrangement is complete to assure a delightful outing.

Among the Sick.

E. S. Hixson, the popular West New- Pittsburg messenger, and manager of ...ile Vernon-West Newton base ball ... ill at his home in Third street, ...ewton, threatened with fever.

OTHERS SHOULD FOLLOW SUIT.

Since the brush and weeks have been cleared off of the Park, it will be up to some of the property owners to follow suit. There are a number of unsightly localities in town that need immediate attention and the owners of the property should see to it that the places are cleaned. The M. E. church people are adding much to the appearance of the church property by having it cleaned and terraced. Later it will be fenced which will also add to the appearance. Now let the vacant lots and wildernesses over town be cleaned.

IMPROVING THE PLACE.

Since the purchase of Wireton by the Pittsburg Steel company the place is undergoing marvelous improvements which are beneficial not only to the people who reside there but to the community in general. All sidewalks, streets and alleys are being covered thickly with ashes and the place is being put in a thoroughly sanitary condition. Since this improvement Wireton looks like a different place and it is said the company will try to obtain a better class of tenants for the houses.

A NEW LAW.

Efforts are being made by a number of Western Pennsylvania boroughs to secure the passage of legislation that will compel all railroad companies to maintain safety gates at grade crossings or where the lives of the people are endangered by crossing railroad tracks. On the other hand railroad companies are fighting the enactment of such a law and are trying to abolish the grade crossing entirely. The latter seems an impossibility for public highways must cross railroad tracks and the railroad companies should be compelled through proper legislation to protect the lives of the people. In Monessen the railroad company has been opposing the opening of River street on account of the grade crossing claiming that such a crossing would endanger human life, yet that same company allows trains to dash through the borough at the rate of forty miles an hour without ever stopping to consider the safety of the public. The passage of a law compelling safety gates would be a good one.

OVER in Washington the town council gave away a street car franchise for a few paltry little passes for the exclusive use of councilmen who voted the income of the public thoroughfares into the clutches of a wealthy corporation forever. Many of the Washington taxpayers are objecting to the actions of council in the matter. They have a right to protest. Washington is too old and too good a town to be so generous to a wealthy corporate concern. Charleroi is not quite so easy on the franchise issue.

"WHY is it that everybody at church likes to sit in the end of a seat?" queries an exchange. That is fully as puzzling a question as that other one which has bothered ministers for ages, "Why doesn't a woman take off her hat in church, as she always does in a theatre?"

THE Chicago News suggests that it would be a good idea to throw away the dish rag. Some of those Chicago girlies must be longing for a change to have coaxed ye editor to print such an absurd suggestion.

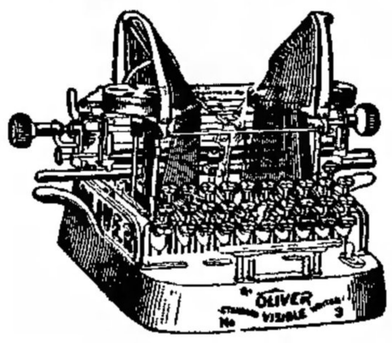
THIS TYPEWRITER
DELIVERS THE GOODS

It's the Oliver—the Standard Visible Writer.

The Oliver Typewriter is just like an athlete stripped for a race.



It is free from unnecessary multiplicity of wires and springs

No net work of flimsy keys to get tied into hard knots

The nimble fingered stenographer can put talk into type with this machine just as rapidly as she takes your dictation.

For no matter how swiftly she writes, she can see just what she's doing.

The keyboard is so wonderfully responsive to the touch of the finger tips that speed comes without effort.

The facters that make for speed are its visible writing, its light, elastic key-touch, and it's all 'round simplicity. It has the fewest possible wearing points, and it prints with a downward stroke.

THE ISLAMIC WORLD.

Its Two Divisions and Its Attitude Toward the Sultan.

The Islamic world is divided into two great divisions—the Sunni Mohammedans, who occupy the Turkish empire, Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Tripoli, Afghanistan, Egypt and the Sudan, and the Khanates of central Asia, and the Shiah Mohammedans, who occupy Persia and are scattered all over the Mohammedan world, some 5,000,000 of them being in India. By the doctrine of the latter the caliph must be a lineal descendant of the prophet. The Sunnis, on the other hand, do not insist on this, but it is an article of necessary faith in Sunni theology and law that the caliph must be an Arab of pure blood belonging to Mohammed's tribe. On this point there is absolutely no difference in the Mohammedan world, barring one or two insignificant sects out of the hundreds of sects into which Mohammedanism is divided.

One proof test is the Friday prayer. In no country out of Turkey is prayer offered up for the sultan of Turkey. To do so would be an act of sedition and treated as such. I would not give much for the life of the mollah who dared to offer up prayers for the sultan in any mosque in Afghanistan or Persia. The Arabs repudiate with scorn the idea of the sultan being caliph; nor, indeed, has he ever dared formally to appeal to the Mohammedan world in that character. He was never acknowledged as caliph in India, and if he publicly claimed the title formally even in Constantinople it is probable that he would find himself deposed by a fetva of the Sheikh ul Islam.—London Times.

ANCIENT ARTISTS.

Wonderful and Lasting Work of the Greco-Egyptian Painters.

The methods of the artists of ancient Greece and Egypt were totally different from those of the present day and were evidently vastly more durable. Panels of wood were used to paint on—sycamore and cypress—also panels or papier mache, and occasionally they were formed by gluing three thicknesses of canvas together. These panels were usually about fourteen inches long by seven inches wide. The artist used liquid wax instead of oil to mix the colors, which were made, not from vegetable, but from mineral substances, and were of marvelous brilliancy and permanence—blue powdered lapis lazuli, green malachite, red oxide of iron, etc. The colors were laid on in patches, somewhat after the fashion of a mosaic, and afterward blended with an instrument called the cestrum, which appears to have been a lancet shaped spatula, long handled, with at one end a curved point, at the other a finely dentated edge. With the toothed edge the wax could be equalized and smoothed, while the point was used for placing high lights, marking lips, eyebrows, etc.

The final process, which gives the name encaustic to this kind of painting, was the burning in of the colors. This was done by the application of a heated surface to the panel, though in Egypt the heat of the sun was probably all that was needed to complete the artist's work.

Each Man's Share of the Globe.

There is no immediate prospect that the landed surface of the globe will be divided up and allotted in equal shares to each of its human inhabitants, but if such a time ever does come it will be found that each will get a little truck farm of 23½ acres. The landed surface of the globe contains, as near as it is possible for the geographers to ascertain, 33,600,000,000 acres, which, divided among the 1,500,000,000 inhabitants which the world contains, roughly speaking, would give each of them a tract of land of the area mentioned above. Taking the entire population of the world into consideration, there are almost exactly twenty-eight inhabitants to each square mile.

A Startling Motto.

A traveling salesman died very suddenly in Pittsburg. His relatives telegraphed the undertaker to make a wreath; the ribbon should be extra wide, with the inscription, "Rest in peace," on both sides, and if there is room, "We shall meet in heaven." The undertaker was out of town and his new assistant handled the job. It was a startling floral piece which turned up at the funeral. The ribbon was extra wide and bore the inscription, "Rest in peace on both sides, and if there is room we shall meet in heaven."

Ten Good Things.

There are ten things for which no one has ever yet been sorry. These are: For doing good to all; for speaking evil to none; for hearing before judging; for thinking before speaking; for holding an angry tongue; for being kind to the distressed; for asking pardons for all wrongs; for being patient toward everybody; for stopping the ears to a talebearer; for disbelieving most of the ill reports.

Too Valuable to Lose.

Mrs. Clinton Streeter—John, wake up! The cook is screaming "Burglars!" Mr. Clinton Streeter—Great Scott! I'll go right down. Mrs. C. S.—No, don't; they might shoot you. Mr. C. S.—That's a small risk to take. My goodness, woman, suppose they should steal the cook!—Kansas City Independent.

Paradoxical.

Suburban Patient—Doctor, I am sorry you have had to come so far from your regular practice. Doctor—Oh, it's all right. I have another patient in the neighborhood, so I can kill two birds with one stone.—Judge.

Action from youth, advice from middle age, prayers from the aged.—Hesiod.

A REASON FOR INCOMPATIBILITY

(Original.)

The lighthouse keeper had shown a visitor over the premises, and the latter, instead of departing after seeing all there was to be seen, sat down on a bench and began to ask questions.

"Do you lighthouse keepers get lonely?"

"I don't."

"How about your wife?"

"I never hear her complain."

"Then you're contented and happy."

The keeper turned and looked out to sea, without reply for some time, then, turning again, said:

"We're both miserable."

The stranger changed position, the movement and his manner indicating that he had a purpose in view and had struck its trail.

"Wife pine for company?" he asked.

"I don't think so; she says not."

"Then what's the matter?"

"I'll tell you. Dolly Markham was as pretty and as nice a girl as ever you'd see in the village where I married her"—

"She's pretty as a peach now," interrupted the visitor.

"We loved each other just naturally—fell right into it as soon as we met. I didn't have any trouble to get her and she didn't have any trouble to get me. We were married and came to live in the little house just up on the hill. I had told her that there was a dearth of neighbors here and she'd have to be satisfied with me. She said I was all she wanted, and when she came was delighted with the house, which is very cozy and comfortable. I was looking forward to a happy life here by the sea, which I have always loved.

"I don't know how it was, but we hadn't been here a month before she began to say sharp things to me, she who had been a model of amiability, and I, who had always prided myself on being able to keep my temper, surprised myself by giving it back to her. Within half an hour after saying disagreeable words to each other we'd both be sorry and would kiss and make up. But we kept getting into new quarrels, and at last we didn't take the trouble to make up. We just let it all go without either of us expressing regret and began over again. We loved each other just the same and would have been happy if we hadn't fallen into a habit of quarreling about every little thing that came up. We tried to stop it, but we couldn't.

"At the end of six months Dolly went back to her native town. We had to separate. We didn't say anything about a divorce, but just separated. I pined so without her that after awhile I got my brother to take my place here, and I went to see what Dolly was doing. I found that she pined for me as I did for her. I stayed a month in the town. We both had plenty of friends and went about a good deal with them and spent some time by ourselves. In that whole thirty days we didn't speak one sharp word to each other. I asked her to go back with me, and she agreed that if we could pass another month without a quarrel she'd do as I asked. We passed another month in perfect peace, then we went back resolved that there should be no more unhappiness from incompatability of temper.

"We hadn't been back two days before we had a spat. And, having had one, we had another. Doll stood it as long as she could, then went back home again. This time it seemed necessary, for the child was coming, and it didn't do for her to be rasped. After the child was born I joined them both and spent a happy time with them, during which we hadn't, as before, a single quarrel.

"It seemed that the child ought to keep us from scraps in future, and we came back. But, you know, a child for the first three months has a lot of colic, and it's mighty trying to the temper, so that now there was some excuse for"—

"That wasn't it," interrupted the stranger. "Go on."

"At any rate, we quarreled more than ever. The little one is now three years old, we love her and each other, but we can't keep our tempers. There being three of us, we can't separate as before; the child keeps us together. We don't want to separate; we just want to keep steady, but we can't. Sometimes I think there's something in the sea air to stir people up. Sometimes I think I am failing or Doll is failing under some hidden disease. But a doctor looked us both over and says we're all right. I asked him why we had to fight and he said our physical makeup was not harmonious."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed the stranger.

"What's that you say, sir?"

"I'm the director of an insane asylum. Insanity comes largely from violating natural laws. Man is a gregarious animal. Deprive him of the company of others—various others—and he breaks up. Shut up two people together to pass through the same scenes day after day, month after month, and they will have to quarrel; they can't help it. That is my theory and I'm testing it. Thus far I've proved it in every case."

Arising, the visitor shook the hand of the lighthouse keeper, left a silver dollar in his palm and departed.

A year later a man called at the —— lunatic asylum and asked for the director.

"Ah!" said the latter on entering "The lighthouse keeper."

"No, sir, the ex-lighthouse keeper. My wife and I live in a town full of people and know every one of them. Three nights in the week we go somewhere or some one comes in. Our fights are ended. We're happy."

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

G. B. Burhans Testifies after four Years.

G. B. Burham of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I'm glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." # LOCALS DOWN THE LEADERS.

Win an Exciting Game by Batting Rally in Last Inning.--Foster Was Star Actor.

By a hair-raising garrison finish, Vaughn's tossers hung it on the League leaders at Athletic park yesterday by the score of 7 to 6. In the ninth inning with the score 6 to 4 against them the locals fell on Springer's curves and saved the game after it seemed to be hopelessly lost. In the first inning, the only one in which they were able to do anything with Foster's pitching, the visitors secured five runs through several errors, but after that he held them easily. They got but six hits in all off his curve assortment.

The locals did their first scoring in the second when they somewhat evened up the large lead taken by Linday's bunch. Tustin lasted but four innings when he was relieved by Springer who was effective until the fatal ninth. The score:

Base Ball Scraps.

Well done fellows.

That one was a hair-raiser.

Licked the proud Leaders.

The ninth proved to be the undoing of Springer.

Cratty's safe one was for three bags.

Vaughn had his batting eye open yesday.

That's the second time, Foster has pitched us to victory.

McKenna accepted four chances in pretty fashion.

Tomorrow's game at Athletic park between the Locals and Combines should prove a hummer. Monessen will be fighting to hold fourth place and Roscoe-Cal. will put up the game of their lives in order to strengthen their position. Everyone turn out and see the game.

In third place, stick to it.

Must be something wrong in the Belle Vernon camp The new Champs have only won one game.

The Smithton baseball team which has been recently reorganized will play their first game tomorrow afternoon with the Perryopolis team as the attraction. L. H. Young, the manager, has secured the services of a number of real artists and the Smithton fans are promised some red hot base ball.

E. E. A. C.'S WIN FROM DONORA

The E. E. A. C's beat the Donora Independents at Donora yesterday by the score of 6 to 1. The game was practically a walk over for the East Ends as Shutterly had Donora entirely at his mercy at all stages. The entire team put up a gilt edged game and played rings around their opponents

Montgomery was on the rubber for the Independents and proved a circus for the East End batters, they taking all kinds of liberties with his curves The home team also fielded poorly. The game was the last of a series of 3 which these teams have played, the Independents winning the first by a close margin on the Donora grounds, while the East Ends have captured the last two.
